8th GRADE

UP and ONWARD

8-3 Class Poem

The 8-3 class is noisy and loud,
But they really are a good crowd.
They have Phil, Gary, Don,and Dale,
But none of their boys are up for sale.
They are really fortunate to have the Kings,
And Elis and Roy who know how to sing.
The class has a boxer "Ernie the Great,"
Lots of times you'll see Peggy on a date.
They have some wise-offs like Jim W. and Larry,
And some nice inocent kids like Cliff and Jere.
Theres Whitey with the blond hair,
And Kim and Long make a good pair.
Then B arb S., Sandy and Janet C. who always get in a fight,
With Barb H., Jackie, and Jean both day and night.
Charlie, Jim R., and Stanley never admit it,
They always say Mimi did it.
Ervin that charactor gives us a charge,
While Janet B. the petit (means not very large).
Nancy s., Jeanette , and Nancy W. are good at volley ball,
And no one can compete with Delmers Ape Call.
Joy and K aren aren't very loud,
But we are glad to say they are in the crowd.
The B's we have quite a few,
The Bards' Clara and Dave thats just two.
A trip to Washington took Kathy Beuret,
Just how lucky can you get?
Warren gets his school work, like a good boy,
But J erry H . always has a new toy.
Dick Smith is a smart boy too,
Melinda and Diane make a good crew.
Rosey's the girl with the pony tail~~Rosey~~,
None of these kids have been in the jail.

"SCHOOL SONG"

We're loyal to you Auburn High
We're Crimson and Black Auburn High
We'll back you to stand against the best in the land
For we know you will stand Auburn High,
Rah! Rah!

So crack out that ball, Auburn High
We're backing you all Auburn High

Our team is our fame protector
On boys, for we expect a victory
from you Auburn High.

Chee-Cha-Tra-La-La!—Da-Da—Da-Da
Chee-Cha-Tra-La-La!—Da-Da—Da-Da
Auburn High! Auburn High! Auburn High!

Fling out that dear old flag of Crimson and Black
We're here beside our heroes right on the track
Like men of old on giants, placing reliance,
shouting defiance,
Os-Kee Wow-Wow!

We are a true and much devoted band
And none against our gallant team will stand
Come on you Devils, fight with all your might
You can't be beaten 'cause you're all right.
. . . FIGHT!

D.R.I.A. ORGANIZED

Because of the ever increasing demand for organization, the inmates of of an association. It is called the D.R.I.A. or the Detention Room Inmates Association. The association has set up certain qualifications to be met. One must have at least 30 hours to their credit, be on the send-ins once a week, skip school once every two weeks, and get straight A's.

The association has set up an admittance committee to screen any new members. Every member of the committee is in a different room each hour. The new member will not know who it is. That way the committee can get a first hand report of how bad you actually are and if you will be a good member.

The sponsor of the D.R.I.A. is Mr. Miller. Mr. Miller has taken an active part in the association working with them diligently every night after school. It can be said that Mr. Miller will wait for anybody who wants to join.

The association has planned different activities for the rest of the year. Among other things planned to do, the association is going to have

AUBURN-GARRETT TO CONSOLIDATE

The officials of the Auburn and Garrett schools, after an all-night closed door (closed to keep certain dissenters out) conference, proudly announced their decision of consolidation. This immediately set off a huge riot, which was interpreted as a unanamous acceptance of the much favored project.

Although there are a few small problems waiting to be ironed our, most of the palnning is in the final stage. Only the problem of school spirit is unsolved. Two equally large factions, called the Red Devils and the Railroaders, are battling it out for the choice of school colors and nickname.

A news flash has just been received from the president of the North Eastern Indiana Athletic Conference. He reports all schools have withdrawn from the NEIAC because of our consolidation's extreme athletic potential.

Who remembers senior cords?

BLOOMINGTON — With summer comes thoughts of the "the good old days" including memories of high school and college years.

And looking back at those school days, one thing that often comes to mind is the type of clothing worn.

One special item was senior cords. According to Pam Schlick, assistant curator of the Elizabeth Sage Historic Costume Collection at Indiana University, senior cords may be unique to students in Indiana.

Senior cords were trousers, skirts, dresses and or vests made of cream and camel colored corduroy. The cords could only be worn by members of the senior class and were often colorfully decorated with drawings of school mascots, slogans and names of boyfriends or girlfriends.

Schlick said she has found very little information available on the history of senior cords.

"Most of our information has come from personal contacts, and it is sketchy at best. We know that they existed in the 1920s and in the 1960s because we have examples from these years in our collection. We also believe that they were worn by seniors in both high school and college."

Schlick is doing research on the history of senior cords and is interested in adding examples to the Sage Collection.

Anyone who has information that would prove helpful in that research should contact Pam Schlick, Elizabeth Sage Historic Costume Collection, Wylie Hall 203, Indiana University, Bloomington, (phone 812 335-5497).

GRADUATES TOLD OF LIFE'S GOALS

Rev. George Schuette Delivers Annual Baccalaureate Sermon in Auburn with Approximately 700 Present

The Rev. George W. Schuette, pastor of the St. Mark's Lutheran church in Auburn, spoke on "The Pearl of Great Price" at the annual baccalaureate services held for the 40 boys and 49 girls of the 1960 graduation class of Auburn high school.

The services were held Sunday afternoon at the McKenney Junior high school auditorium in Auburn with approximately 700 persons in attendance.

Mrs. Ted Etling presented the prelude and processional and then the high school chorus sang "Battle Hymn of the Republic," accompanied by Carol Moser.

The invocation was given by the Rev. Lloyd W. Harlan, pastor of the First Church of God in Auburn and then the high school chorus presented musical selections before and following the sermon by Rev. Schuette.

The Rev. Clinton Moser, pastor of the Auburn Missionary church, gave the benediction and Mrs. Etling played the recessional.

Rev. Schuette took from the 45th and 46th verses of the 13th chapter of St. Matthew the following thought for his sermon—"Again, the kingdom of heaven is like unto a merchant man, seeking goodly pearls, and when he had found one of great prize, went and sold all he had and bought it."

He spoke in part as follows:

"Here is a picture that our Lord gives, of a man whose aim in life is to find the greatest pearl that exists. Every day he goes to the docks where the ships are tied, and looks over, so very closely, the catch of pearls—he scrutinizes them carefully, looking for those without flaws—seeking all the good points, hoping every day to find the pearl that is of the ultimate value—the perfect gem.

"He remembers that he has many pearls hidden safely away at home, but would sacrifice all of these, if he could find the 'perfect one'. If anyone tells him of a man who has a greater pearl—he hastens to find it and to buy it, but still, he is not satisfied and keeps searching day after day.

"And surely, one day it happens and he finds the pearl of great price, and it's so different. He has to control himself, as his heart leaps with joy, as to not show his excitement. The price is so great, but he is willing to sacrifice all his pearls at home, for this great pearl. Now, his quest is ended in complete success, so Jesus says, 'So is the Kingdom of Heaven.'

"You young people, you too are searching for treasures in life, some of these treasures are quite good and very worthwhile, others may be inferior and of no value at all. Through the ages — men of every generation have sought many kinds of pearls, hoping to find those that would be most excellent.

"Some of the most substantial appearing goals, like Wealth, Power, Influence and Pleasure, actually give the most insecure basis upon which life can be built. A life founded on these things, can easily be destroyed.

"A life centered on such unseen realities as love, righteousness, and service to God is infinitely more secure. These realities are not subject to change and decay. They will 'Abide forever.'

"There is still the greater pearl to be found, the pearl of great price is found in Christ your Saviour. He is the real answer to all problems. Until you have found that pearl, you remain a dissatisfied seeker, no matter how many other pearls of lesser value you may have, you will not have found the Pearl of Great Price, until you know Christ as your Salvation."

Concluding his message, Rev. Schuette said: "Remember that the merchant in the parable of Je-

UPWARDS OF 1,400 AT COMMENCEMENT

Overflow Crowd at Junior High where Members of 1960 Auburn Class Presented Graduation Program

The 1960 Auburn high school class of 89 seniors presented Wednesday night the program for their commencement before a crowd of upwards of 1,400 persons that overflowed the auditorium of the McKenney Junior high school.

The annual commencement program opened with the traditional processional "Pomp and Circumstance" played by the Auburn high school band directed by Richard J. Norris.

Miss Diane Olson gave the invocation.

The welcome address was presented by Harve Harris who told his audience that "this is our night" because of the work and sacrifice of the faculty, parents and the school.

"The carefree days are behind us. Tonight means the beginning or commencing of our life as adults. We will keep in mind our class motto, 'Enter to learn, depart to serve', and strive to open the good doors of life."

Preceding the intention given by William Heffley, the high school band played "Londonderry Air."

Tells of Images of 1960

Heffley spoke of the images of 1960. Will they be of Khrushchev walking out of the Summit conference, of the riots in South Africa, of trouble in Cuba or of President Eisenhower in his last year in the presidency.

"What will the image be for the class of 1960? In the past 12 years, we have learned why there were men like Washington, Jefferson and Lincoln. We have learned the ideals of our nation. We must explore now what we have learned for our future and come to know what part to play."

"The class of 1960," he said, "must stop now and then to look at the 'Man in the Glass'."

The high school band played "One Beautiful Day" preceding the farewell address by Dale Cochard.

In his talk, Cochard said the seniors of 1960 now face their biggest step — from childhood to adulthood.

"We have been guided down a straight path, and now the choice to continue to improve is ours."

The speaker praised the parents, the faculty and the community for providing the encouragement, teaching, sacrifice and help needed by the class members through their formulative years.
